Abstract:

This study discusses the legal implications of force majeure in resolving contractual disputes during the COVID-19 pandemic, particularly in service agreements such as wedding event planning. The rapid spread of COVID-19 led the Indonesian government to declare a national disaster and implement various restrictive measures, which significantly disrupted contractual performance. This research uses a normative juridical method, relying on statutory regulations, legal doctrines, and literature review to analyze the concept of force majeure and its application in real cases. The findings indicate that many service providers were unable to fulfill their contractual obligations due to external circumstances beyond their control, resulting in disputes with consumers who experienced financial losses. However, such conditions are legally recognized as force majeure, which may release or limit liability for non-performance. The study concludes that dispute resolution should consider fairness and proportionality, encouraging both parties to reach mutual agreements while emphasizing the importance of including clear force majeure clauses in future contracts.

In the agreement between wedding organizer between perpetrator companies and consumers Where matter This can it is said as the agreement that occurred only between parties involved therefore , if there is disabled fulfillment performance in cases where change make a loss arranged based on fulfillment wrong performance , for sure can completed in agreement addendum formed between second split party .

See incident This can seen with clear discuss clause in related contracts with force majeure created between wedding organizers and consumers can considered as consequence from covid-19 pandemic , because when covid-19 pandemic enter to Indonesia and as response , Covid-19 pandemic identified by the Indonesian government as emergency national synthetic Large -Scale Social Restrictions in Context Regulation Government of the Republic of Indonesia Number 21 of 2020 Disaster Covid-19 2019 : Acceleration Countermeasures Disease Corona Virus . Live make a wedding organizer not Again considered as condition force majeure , but more from That .

Due to the conditions force majeure has fulfilled , advocate wedding No Again considered do default . If examined more far away , force majeure consists of from things following :

1. There was an incident not unexpected .

split parties . Social Restrictions recently This For handle covid-19 pandemic impact on the economy national , which in the end result in destruction economy national . The parties who have reach agreement experience loss as the consequences of the Covid-19 pandemic cause Lots energy and time that has been spent for events and receptions a must -have marriage changed back and even replace several vendors. Analysis Settlement Dispute on Agreement Wedding Organizer Payments that have been made done will entered to in plan customized wedding with vendors so that payment can done appropriate time . The PSBB policy was made For decide connection covid-19 in the beginning pandemic in Indonesia. Because vendors who have given No always can present at different times , situations This burdensome wedding organizer . Scheduling repeat wedding still accepted by the organizer marriage . This is make wedding organizer Confused with timetable vendors who do not uncertain .

Position wedding organizer and completion dispute , researcher No fully agree with method dispute completed by the wedding organizer with consumers . For settlement problem first , namely when marriage contract and reception No can held Because policies within the framework of the Republic of Indonesia, regulations Government Number 21 of 2020: Large -Scale Social Restrictions for Acceleration Handling Disease Coronavirus 2019 (covid-19), so that make all something forced postponed even stopped , wedding organizer own rescheduling or scheduling repeat so that the ceremony and reception wedding No cancelled , only postponed with change date agreement .

Steps taken is steps wise . Because of this This Can it is said as win -win solution Because Good wedding organizer and consumers sitting together For look for method best in finish the conflict that occurred with use the principle of not There is the injured party . For problem second , namely when wedding organizer forced replace because it was agreed in agreement No can present on the date altered wedding . Wedding organizer who acts Alone with replace without discuss or communicate moreover formerly with consumers .

Wedding organizer actions to consumer No can justified Because second split party has bound in agreement that makes every actions to be taken taken by both split party must in accordance with agreement made by the parties bound by the agreement . Because it is feared that action or steps taken without agreement from second split party can influence main agreement . However Because condition covid-19 epidemic own element force majeure , then action wedding organizer to consumer No can considered fail pay and consumer must consider the event as force majeure , so that No appropriate for consumer For request change loss of 70% to wedding organizer .

5. CONCLUSION

Agreement wedding organizer , requirements force majeure has fulfilled . because see clause related agreements with force majeure created between covid-19 pandemic can punish organizer marriage . because when covid-19 epidemic hit Indonesia and the covid-19 epidemic classified as disaster inhabitant international by the Indonesian government . Making wedding organizer become standard new but only classified as currently depicted as be under strength big . Completion dispute in agreement wedding organizer with consequence condition covid-19 . decided through negotiations , so that injured party can request change loss , the amount of which must paid every divided months to five months and paid every twenty .
